MISSION STATEMENT

The Texas Hereford Association will provide the leadership to unite, foster and protect the interest of the Hereford breed; and promote fairly the production and consumption of Hereford beef universally.

THE TEXAS HEREFORD (ISSN 0744-4761) (USPS 616-680) is published monthly except for the month of July by the Texas Hereford Association. POSTMASTER: Please send change of address notices to The Texas Hereford, 4609 Airport Frwy., Ft. Worth, TX 76117. Periodical postage paid at Ft. Worth, TX, and additional mailing offices. Subscription rate: One Year, $25. Advertising rates on request. Contributions to the editorial pages are welcome, but the magazine can not be responsible for the return of unsolicited material.

Showing up.

After 40 years of continuous genetic improvement, we 'bout have the hang of it.

Diversified Program.

Raising cattle competitive in the show ring as well as tomorrow's marketplace – including...

Stout Bulls.

We want to thank all our bull buyers – especially our repeat customers – who appreciate rugged range-ready bulls with acceptable birth weights.

Feminine Females.

Atlas females are the exact kind everyone wants – high performance and low maintenance. They are beautiful powerhouses who will definitely work for you in the pasture.

Prospects.

A special shout-out to all our Junior Hereford members headed into an action-packed summer while participating at the Texas State Show and the National Junior Show. These are important memory-making family events that will remain in your hearts and minds forever. Enjoy these fun times and more importantly, stay safe out there.

We invite you to visit and see our prospects for this coming show season. We'll wager we have one here with your name on it.

Looking forward to seeing you at the shows!

Happy Birthday AMERICA

by Diane Johnson | Editor | Manager

As we approach the 250th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, I want to take a moment to express my gratitude for the incredible country we are privileged to call home. I'm in the top percentage of people who are very patriotic and proud of it. I love to stand with my hand over my heart to hear the National Anthem. What I really like to see is everyone else respecting our flag and standing at attention to honor the flag and our country. I watched a three-year-old put his hand over his heart the other day and it was cuteness overload! Teaching them young!

Through my career I have been fortunate to travel to many other countries around the world. Only continent left is Antarctica! It's exciting to see how the rest of the world lives, eats, and works. It's also VERY interesting to find out what they think of Americans. Hummm...

Let me review a few of my experiences:

I think it was only my second international trip, so I wasn't quite as experienced as I became. But my trip to Norway had me flying through London Heathrow the day the "gel bomber" was discovered. Yes, just one of the days that would change travel forever. When I landed, it was just surreal. Controlled chaos at best. The biggest issue was for anyone traveling back the United States. Since I was flying domestic at this point, (within Europe) I had a little more leniency.

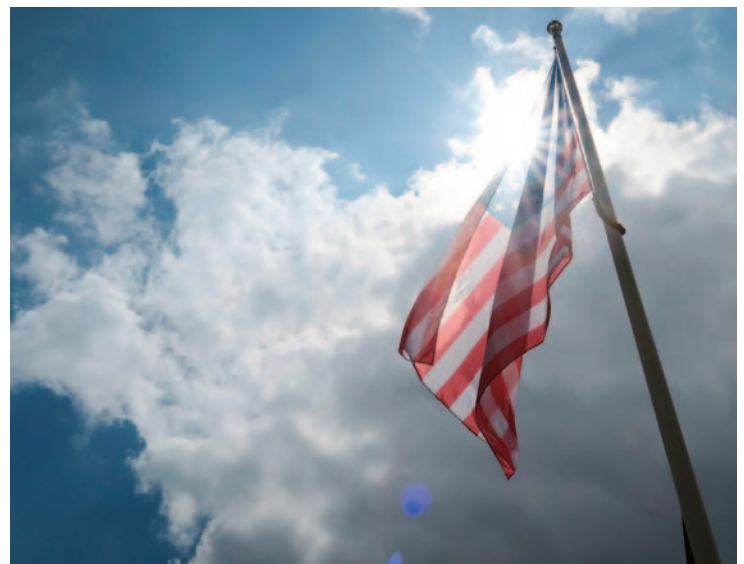

A FEW MEMORIES. MANY LESSONS.
HI FROM LADY DI!

In the airport no one was able to carry on any luggage – everything for the U.S. flyers had to be checked. Only could take their eyeglasses, money and medications. No books, no pens, no nothing. Walking through the airport the silence was deafening. No one was pulling suitcases with wheels so there was no noise from dragging across the concourse. When I got on the plane, all the overhead bins were open, and NOTHING was in them. As a result, I got my luggage four days into the trip. (Travel tip: when you go on a big trip, it's best to have at least one change of clothes in your carry-on – I did and it saved me!)

On this same trip my return departure from Oslo took a sharp turn when I mixed up my boarding time and boarding arrival. The tickets looked different than I was used too so I was delayed at the airport in Oslo for eight hours only to get to spend the night back at Heathrow. That was not a fun night. Or the time when we were on our way back from an ag tour and all of a sudden our buses pulled over, they directed us to get off the bus because there was a surprise for us. We were by a lake – mind you this was midnight and we were still two hours back to our hotel – they served us hot bouillon soup and beer as we watched scantily clothed "nymphs" come out of the water to greet us. (The men were quite impressed) It apparently

STARDANCE 8086 AND PINPOINT 252K

HERD BULLS THAT ARE HARD TO MATCH!

Elite Genetics That Set the Pace.

Stardance is a premier heifer bull, combining a low birth weight with an elite .99 marbling EPD that ranks him in the top 1% of the Hereford breed. Plus, he's a 13 EPD trait leader.

Pinpoint is a powerhouse, weighing 2,770 lbs and consistently delivering exceptional length and growth. Most impressively, he stamps his offspring with 90% pigment across the board.

THE PEOPLE BEHIND THE BRAND

by Wade Perks | Texas Hereford Association President

As you flip through this year's Herd Bull Directory, remember you're looking at much more than herd bull advertisements. Every page represents years of breeding decisions, countless hours of work, relationships built over decades and families who have invested themselves in this breed.

You're looking at the people behind the brand.

Serving on the Executive Committee and now as your President has given me a unique perspective. The Texas Hereford Association isn't defined by board meetings, cattle shows or sales. It's defined by members who continue to step forward because they believe in this breed and in each other.

Organizations don't become stronger because someone has a great idea. They become stronger because someone is willing to step forward, invest their time and invite others to help. That's how momentum is built.

The Texas Hereford Association has momentum because our members time and again choose to step forward.

That's a culture worth building on.

It's the result of folks who volunteer their time. Board members and committee members willing to tackle new ideas. A dedicated staff who were members long before they joined the association, and who continue to invest in the breed because they believe in the people and relationships that make THA special. Ranch families who mentor junior members. Breeders who open their gates for field days, host sales and welcome new customers. Members who ask, "How can I help?" instead of waiting for someone else to do it.

You can see that momentum throughout our association. The Winter Classic, the inaugural Hereford-Influenced Feeder Calf Sale in Caldwell, enhancements to the Fort Worth Powerhouse Female Sale and the Hereford Fed Steer Shootout are all examples of members stepping forward with new ideas. Each began because a few people saw an opportunity and chose to act. Those ideas grew because others believed in them and chose to help. I hope you'll take a few minutes to learn more about these opportunities throughout this issue.

Those efforts are about more than adding another date to the calendar. They create opportunities to tell the Hereford story outside our own circle and strengthen the visibility of Hereford genetics with commercial cattlemen. Commercial cattlemen have more choices than ever before, and our responsibility is to continue earning our place in the Texas cattle industry by demonstrating the value, performance and profitability of Hereford cattle.

I'm fortunate to serve an association that was already moving in the right direction long before I became President. The progress we're experiencing today is the result of years of leadership, thoughtful decisions and members who have consistently invested in the future of the Texas Hereford Association.

The future of the Texas Hereford Association will be shaped by members who continue to believe this breed is worth investing their time, talent and passion in.

Those are the people behind the brand.

Wade Perks

The Future of Our Program Has Arrived ...

The future of our breeding program is here. With the addition of these new herd bulls, we are taking major genetic strides forward and continuing our commitment to quality, performance, and progress.

The Oman Sisters

A LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP AND HEREFORD HERITAGE

Five sisters, Jennifer, Jessica, Judith, Johnna, and Ingrid Oman, grew up in the show ring with Hereford cattle and in the heart of the Texas Junior Hereford Association (TJHA), where leadership, friendship, and responsibility took root early in Avoca, Texas. They were encouraged and supported by a strong foundation established by their parents, John Bill and Belinda Oman, and Herefords were an integral part of their lives. Today, all five are married, raising families, and making an impact in their communities. Their shared start in Herefords continues to shape their lives, values, and the way they lead others. Let's catch up with each of them and see where their paths have led.

Johnna Oman Page

There's a photo of a wide-eyed little Oman girl at her very first TJHA Field Day, just four years old and from the start she loved everything about those gatherings: making new friends, participating in judging contests, and soaking in every bit of the Hereford atmosphere.

In addition to showing, Johnna served first as a junior director, then as a senior director and vice president of the TJHA board while in high school. Her time in the organization was filled with memorable moments, winning grand champion steer at the field day in Belton, capturing the American Junior Hereford Association National Public Speaking Contest title in Kansas City, and receiving the prestigious Bud Snidow Award. She also fondly recalls attending the Take Action Conference in the summer of 1991, traveling to the National Expo in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, and helping plan and host the National Expo at Rocking Chair Ranch in 1995.

All five of the sisters credit their experiences in junior Hereford organizations as paramount to their success in life, and all five girls received Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo Scholarships, along with many awards and recognitions.

Her involvement in TJHA was complemented by deep participation in 4-H and FFA. She served as Texas FFA Vice President in 1995–96 and earned both the Star Lone Star Farmer Award and the State Star Chapter Award. She remained active in 4-H from third grade until she graduated from high school, a testament to her lifelong love of agriculture and youth leadership.

Johnna (Oman), Sutton and Quincy Page

After high school, she attended Texas A&M University (TAMU), graduating in 1999 with a degree in agricultural development. Looking back, she credits much of her professional success to the foundation laid during her TJHA and FFA years. “The biggest things have been communication skills, leadership skills, project management, and learning how to interact with a wide variety of people to accomplish goals,” she says.

Her early career took her back into the agricultural world as executive director of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, where she served for two years before transitioning into human pharmaceutical sales after getting married. When her daughter was born, she shifted her focus to motherhood while continuing part-time work in sales and marketing.

Today, she and her husband, Sutton Page, have been married for 23 years and live on their family farm in the Ericksdahl community east of Stamford, Texas, where they raise cotton and wheat. Their daughter, Quincy, will be a high school junior and is an active 4-H and FFA member. After more than 20 years in sales and marketing, Johnna is now following a new calling, serving as a parish lay minister and working toward a Master of Divinity degree at Wartburg Theological Seminary in Dubuque, Iowa, as she prepares for ordination as an ELCA Lutheran pastor.

Jennifer Oman Kelley

For Jennifer, the TJHA was more than just a youth organization — it was the foundation of a lifelong passion for agriculture, leadership, and community. Her early involvement in TJHA helped shape not only her professional path but also her family’s deep-rooted connection to the Hereford breed.

She first served as secretary of the TJHA and then served as Texas Polled Hereford Association executive secretary. Those roles allowed her to work alongside dedicated breeders and youth leaders who shared her enthusiasm for cattle and agricultural education.

Her family’s story with Herefords began in 1994, though her personal connection stretches back much further to 1979, when she showed a steer that went on to win reserve champion at the Sand Hills Hereford Steer Show. That early success sparked a passion that would define her family’s future. Over the years, the Kelley family has raised and shown Hereford cattle with remarkable success, particularly in the show steer ring. Some of her most cherished memories come from watching her children continue the tradition. At the Sand Hills Hereford Steer Show, Emily June captured champion in 2012, Laurel earned reserve champion in 2011, and John Thomas followed in their footsteps with reserve champion in 2016.

Thomas and Jennifer (Oman) Kelley, Trey and Laurel (Kelley) VonDohlen, Thom Kelley, Emily June (Kelley) and Bryson Williams.

Beyond Herefords, her youth years were filled with rich agricultural experiences. She spent 10 years in 4-H, serving on the Texas 4-H Council, and was active in FFA for four years, focusing primarily on showing steers. These experiences laid the groundwork for her lifelong appreciation of responsibility, discipline, and teamwork.

As an adult, she has remained deeply involved in youth programs, giving back to the same organizations that once helped her grow. She coached the DeWitt Livestock Judging Team for 15 years and served as a 4-H club manager for a decade. “Watching young people grow in confidence and skill through 4-H and FFA reminds me exactly why I fell in love with agriculture in the first place,” she says.

Her academic journey took her to TAMU, where she earned both a bachelor’s degree in animal science (1990) and a Master of Agriculture (1991). Those years at A&M helped solidify her career direction, as one that would blend leadership, education, and a passion for youth development.

She credits her involvement in TJHA, 4-H, and FFA for laying the foundation for her professional life. “Those years taught me far more than how to raise and show cattle,” she reflects. “They taught me organization, teamwork, goal-setting, and communication skills I’ve carried into every stage of life.” As a teacher, those lessons have been invaluable. Standing in front of a classroom or leading a community project, she draws daily on the confidence, communication, and leadership she first developed in the show ring and at association meetings.

Now in her 25th year of teaching, she continues to make an impact as a chemistry teacher at Yoakum High School. Education runs deep in her family. Her husband, Tom Kelley, has served as superintendent of Yoakum ISD for 19 years, while their three children have each found success in agriculture-related careers.

Their oldest daughter, Emily June Williams, serves as State Fair of Texas Livestock Director, her husband, Bryson, works for ZinPro as a sales representative, and together they are raising a young daughter, Harper, with another daughter on the way. Their middle daughter, Laurel VonDohlen, works as a field representative for Texas Farm Bureau. Her husband, Trey, manages and co-owns the Columbus Auction Barn. Their son, John Thomas Kelley, is an agricultural science teacher at Flatonia ISD.

"Success doesn't come easy," Jennifer says, "It comes from hard work, humility, and perseverance." She's always encouraged her children to stay grounded, be kind, and lend a helping hand to others, just as so many people helped her along the way.

And while winning banners and buckles have been part of their story, she's quick to remind others that the true lessons come from the challenges. "You don't have to win to succeed," she says. "The most valuable lessons come from learning through mistakes, never giving up, and always striving to do better next time."

She concluded, "The friendships, the work ethic, and the communication skills I gained through TJHA, 4-H, and FFA have been the foundation for everything I've done. They built not just my career, but my life."

Jessica Oman Detten

For Jessica, the Hereford breed has always represented more than just cattle; it's been the foundation for her values, friendships, and career. From an early age, she found her place in the show barn and in the leadership circles of the TJHA, where her involvement shaped not only her skills but also her life's direction.

She began raising and showing Hereford steers and heifers at age nine, continuing through her teenage years. Her dedication quickly turned into leadership, serving on the TJHA Board of Directors, including a year as secretary. Her commitment and enthusiasm for the breed earned her the title of Texas Hereford Queen in 1988-89, and later, the Golden Bull Award in 1992. In 1995, she had the opportunity of a lifetime, representing the American Junior Hereford Association on the international exchange program to Australia and New Zealand.

Her passion for agriculture extended beyond Herefords. She was active in both 4-H and FFA, serving as a 4-H club officer and competing in livestock judging, food and nutrition, and method demonstration contests. In FFA, she served as an Area II Officer during 1988-89 and earned the Lone Star Degree.

Education was the natural next step in building on her agricultural foundation. She earned both her Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in animal science from TAMU, followed by a Master of Arts in teaching from West Texas A&M University (WTAMU).

The lessons learned through Hereford projects and youth programs became deeply ingrained in her personal and professional life. "Raising Herefords taught me the importance of hard work, perseverance, and adaptation," she reflects. Over the years, her career has been diverse, spanning positions at a university, a packing plant, a Congressional office, business ownership, and now, education. In each role, the skills learned from raising and showing cattle, along with her experiences in 4-H, FFA, and TJHA, have proven invaluable.

Today, she teaches agricultural science at Hereford High School, where she shares her lifelong passion for agriculture with a new generation of students. "TJHA, 4-H, and FFA helped me discover my love for agriculture, which is a passion I now have the privilege of passing on to my students every day," she says. She also credits scholarships from the Texas and American Junior Hereford Associations for helping make her education possible.

Looking back, she sees clearly how youth programs built her grit and perseverance. One experience stands out: when her favorite heifer died, she found the strength to start again by purchasing a replacement at the Texas Hereford Futurity Sale. Training the new heifer was a challenge, as she was stubborn and difficult to handle, but through persistence, early mornings, and consistent work, the pair became a winning team by spring show season. "That lesson in perseverance carried over to adulthood," she says. "Whether as an employee, a wife, or a parent, grit has always been essential."

Her family has carried on those same values. She and her husband, Dennis, who works in maintenance at Caviness Packing, have raised four children, each pursuing agricultural paths of their own. Jack is a veterinary student at Texas A&M University; Rachael is pursuing a graduate degree in the Bush School of Public Policy at Texas A&M; Avery was a animal science student at Texas A&M; and Sam will be a senior at Hereford High School.

As both a parent and educator, she has seen how lessons from the show barn apply to life. "Some days you win and some days you learn," she says, a phrase that's become something of a family motto. She believes kids find the most success when they're empowered to take ownership of their projects, from daily chores to show-day preparations. "Responsibility builds confidence," she adds.

All four of her children have been active in 4-H and FFA, continuing the tradition she began as a young exhibitor. While showing cattle wasn't always feasible for their family, her children found similar lessons through other livestock projects, developing the same sense of dedication and discipline that their mother learned through Herefords.

And as fate would have it, her life has come full circle in more ways than one. Living and teaching in Hereford, Texas, she jokes, "brings a whole new meaning to being a 'Hereford cattle' girl."

IN MEMORY OF AVERY DETTEN

Our hearts are with the Detten/Oman family as they mourn the loss of Avery, who passed away on May 26, 2026. Avery was an accomplished young woman whose life was taken far too soon.

Judith Oman Grotegut

For Judith, the TJHA wasn't just an organization. It was a training ground for leadership, independence, and lifelong friendships. Her time in TJHA and the AJHA helped shape her confidence, career path, and values that still guide her today.

Judith served the TJHA as both a director and president, gaining valuable experience in teamwork and event planning at a young age. Her dedication to the breed extended to the national level, where she was elected to serve as an AJHA National Director from 1991 to 1994, holding the offices of secretary and first vice president.

Her enthusiasm for livestock and leadership began early through 4-H and FFA, though she admits 4-H held a special place in her heart. Among her proudest moments were attending the Texas 4-H Congress in Austin, earning the Gold Star Award, and winning reasons at the Texas 4-H Roundup Livestock Judging Contest. These formative experiences instilled in her the confidence to take on challenges and step into leadership roles.

After high school, Judith charted her own course. It started at Clarendon College, where she judged livestock under the guidance of Jerry Hawkins. She jokingly refers to herself as Chris, Josef, Judith (Oman) and Johan Grotegut.

FROM THE SHOW RING TO THE BULLFIGHTING ARENA:

The Journey of Brody Brogan

One of the best things about a Texas Hereford State Show isn't just the cattle—it's the friendships that are made along the way.

Like so many Hereford kids, my son spent his free time at the state show tossing a football around in the arena with friends. About nine or ten years ago, he came back from one of those games talking about a new friend named Brody. None of us knew it then, but that chance meeting would become the beginning of a close friendship between our families.

Today, that small third grader is 18 years old, a high school graduate, and already making a name for himself in the rodeo industry.

He wasn't able to attend this year's Texas Hereford State Show because he was working. Last year, however, he shared a secret with us. He had been training to become a bullfighter, although his mother didn't know yet.

When I recently asked him what it was like telling her about his plans, he smiled and replied, "I didn't want to hurt her. It's a hard sport, and it comes with injuries. It's not if you get hurt—it's when and how bad."

His mother, Stacy, understands that reality all too well. His father, John Brogan, is a veteran bullfighter who qualified for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo multiple times during his career.

For Brody, following in his father's footsteps seemed almost inevitable.

Brody is the son of John and Stacy Brogan and brother to Brenley Brogan. The family, from Paradise, Texas, raises Hereford cattle and has long been active in the Hereford community. Brody spent nine years exhibiting Herefords and serving the breed he loves. Throughout his junior career, he served on both the Texas Junior Polled Hereford Association and Texas Junior Hereford Association boards.

While many know him from the show ring, a new chapter began in June 2025 when he started formal bullfighting training. His first competition came on October 18, 2025—although you could argue his training started much earlier while working cattle alongside his family.

Since then, Brody's rise through the ranks has been impressive.

"I always wanted to try my hand at bullfighting," Brody said. "When I got the chance to follow in my father's footsteps, I wanted to take it."

In a tribute to his father's legacy, Brody proudly wears some of John's old gear in competition, including shirts and baggies once worn during his dad's career. John remains heavily involved, coaching his son by studying video footage, breaking down performances, and offering advice on how to improve. That mentorship has proven valuable for the rookie competitor.

One of Brody's biggest goals is to work at the highest levels of professional bull riding as a full-time bullfighter. He hopes to consistently work events sanctioned by both the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) and the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA). Another goal is to win a world championship title. Remarkably, despite beginning his competitive career less than a year ago, he is already earning rankings and recognition among some of the sport's top competitors.

“the black sheep” of her Aggie family for beginning her studies there, but she made good on her promise to become an Aggie. She transferred and completed her Bachelor of Science in animal science (science option) at TAMU in 1994. She went on to earn a Master of Arts in communication from WTAMU in 2000.

Her experiences in the Hereford associations taught her much more than how to show cattle. “My THA experiences taught me to plan events, solve problems, attend to details, and work with others,” Judith says. “I learned how to travel and be independent, too — all without a cell phone!”

Those early lessons set the tone for a meaningful career and a purposeful life. Judith always knew she wanted to stay connected to production agriculture and to raise a new generation of agricultural youth. Though she once dreamed of becoming a veterinarian, she laughs that she “didn’t have the science brain” for vet school. Instead, life came full circle when she married one. Her husband, Dr. Chris Grotegut, is a veterinarian, and Judith’s background in agriculture has allowed her to support and contribute to their shared business ventures. They have two sons, Josef and Johan, who are also active in youth organizations.

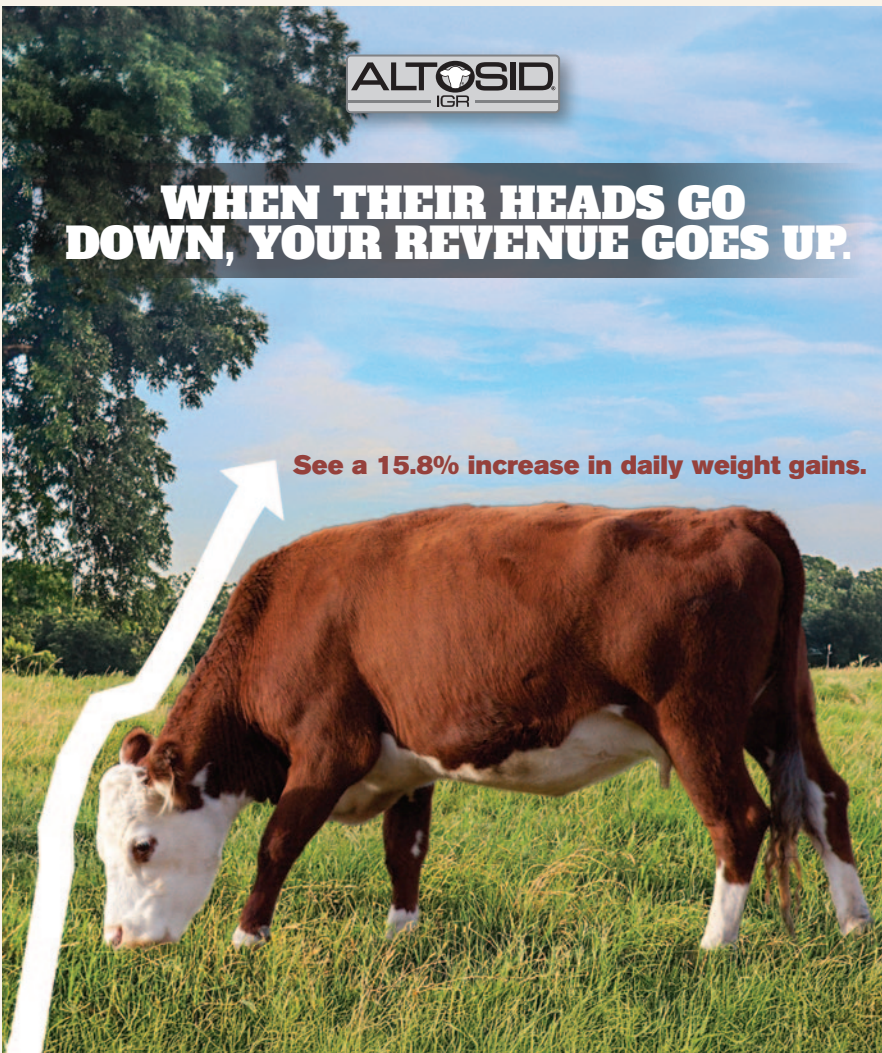

Professionally, Judith has worn many hats. She worked in college admissions and recruitment for both Clarendon College and WTAMU, later joining their Registrar’s Office, before choosing to focus full-time on her family and their agricultural enterprises. Today, she manages the bookkeeping for both her husband’s veterinary clinic and their farming and ranching operations.

The Grotegut family lives their values daily, raising commercial Angus and Hereford cattle as well as commercial Rambouillet sheep. They are currently transitioning irrigated farmland to grass; a move Judith says is part of their plan to create a more sustainable future for their children. She and Chris have been married for 27 years and are the proud parents of twin sons, who will be freshman at TAMU this fall.

Judith credits her showing experience with shaping her parenting philosophy. “The ability to push yourself to accomplish work is something I learned from showing, and I hope I’ve instilled that in my sons,” she says. She believes in guiding her children through both victories and disappointments — helping them learn to evaluate, adapt, and improve. “Showing is such a great tool for teaching resilience,” she adds.

Looking back, Judith feels immense gratitude for the mentors and adults who invested in her during her youth. “I’m so thankful for my parents and all the people who poured into me as a teenager,” she says. “Those experiences shaped who I am and what I do.” Inspired by their example, she continues to give back as a 4-H leader, passing on the same encouragement and opportunities she once received.

Ingrid Oman Tusa

Leadership and involvement came naturally for Ingrid, whose time in the TJHA helped build the foundation for a lifelong commitment to agriculture and youth development. She served as TJHA President and earned recognition on the national level as an AJHA Public Speaking Winner, achievements that highlighted her communication skills and confidence from an early age.

Her dedication to agriculture extended beyond the Hereford breed. She was active in both 4-H and FFA, holding several leadership roles, including Area II FFA Officer, District FFA President, and Stamford FFA President. Her hard work and passion for production agriculture earned her the distinguished honor of Texas State Star Lone Star Farmer in Production.

Education was a natural continuation of her agricultural interests. She earned a Bachelor of Science in agricultural economics and a Master of Education in agricultural education, both from TAMU.

The lessons learned through her junior Hereford experiences have remained deeply influential throughout her life. "My experiences in TJHA helped me build my communication and leadership skills," she reflects. "I learned how to work with others, speak confidently in interviews and in front of large audiences, and manage my time effectively." Her service as a board member also taught her problem-solving and teamwork—all skills that continue to serve her in her professional and personal life.

Her involvement in TJHA, along with 4-H and FFA, set the stage for her career and family life. Knowing early on that she wanted to stay connected to agriculture, she and her husband, Jacob, have now spent over 20 years working in the show cattle industry. Together, they have hosted showmanship clinics for young exhibitors and developed Tusa Ag, a thriving farming and ranching operation, alongside Tusa Show Cattle. Their experiences in youth programs helped equip them with the knowledge and discipline to manage a successful agricultural business and raise a family grounded in those same values.

Networking and leadership were two of the biggest takeaways she carried from her youth. The connections she made through national and state programs turned into lifelong friendships and professional relationships. "My communication skills, along with planning and organizational abilities, all trace back to my time in those youth leadership roles," she says.

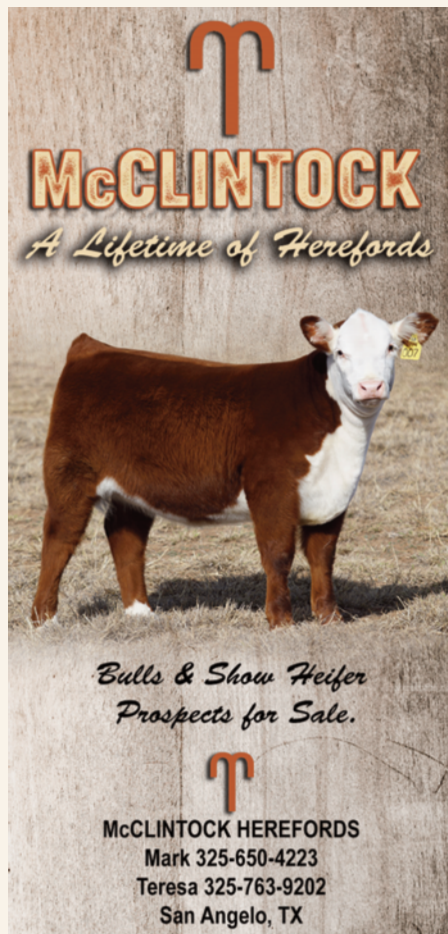

Today, she and Jacob make their home in Ericksdahl, Texas, after recently moving from Reagan. They have two children, Georgia (17) and Charlie (14), who are following in their parents' footsteps through active participation in FFA and 4-H. Both are involved in livestock judging, leadership events, and showing cattle and pigs.

Watching their children grow through these programs has been one of her greatest joys. "The skills that kids learn from showing are tremendous," she explains. "It's been wonderful to watch our children develop responsibility, commitment, integrity, and the ability to win and lose gracefully. Those lessons carry into every part of their lives—school, sports, and beyond."

Looking back, she credits the Hereford association for shaping not only her career but also her character and values. "My Hereford involvement shaped me into who I am today," she says with gratitude. "I will be forever thankful to everyone who helped me along the way." ♦

Brody currently competes in the Bullfighters Only (BFO), Ultimate Bullfighters (UBF) circuits, and Bulls, Bands and Barrels.

A young Brody with mentors.

When he isn't competing, he's working rodeos as a bullfighter, gaining valuable experience and building his resume.

His success has come quickly.

Bullfighters Only is an invitation-only organization featuring some of the top talent in the sport.

As a rookie, Brody has already climbed to seventh in the rankings. His career has taken him across the country, competing in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Florida, Arizona, California, North Dakota, and several other states.

This fall, his schedule will take him internationally as he travels to both France and Canada with BFO events.

Along the way, he has collected an impressive assortment of awards, including buckles, trophies, plaques, custom-engraved cowbells, and even WWE-style championship belts.

At the time of this interview, Brody was on the road once again.

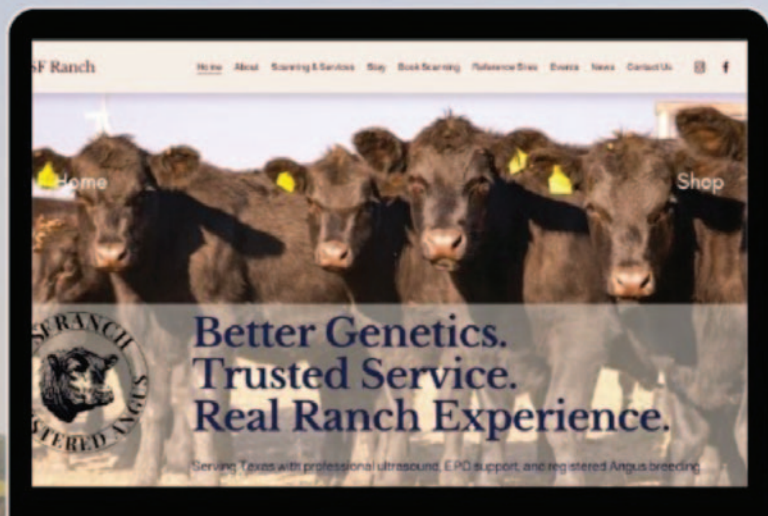

"I'm currently in Wyoming working some bullring action until I have to head to Nebraska for a rodeo, then on to Georgia for another Bulls, Bands & Barrels event," he said.

You can often find Brody competing at events in the historic Fort Worth Stockyards Coliseum, where he always appreciates a cheering section from his Hereford family.

Watching his career take off has been exciting. He is one of "our Hereford kids"—a young man who grew up in the barns, on the show road, and among the families that make this breed so special. His work ethic, talent, and genuine character have helped him achieve success early in his career, and there is little doubt that bigger opportunities lie ahead.

The Hereford community has always taken pride in celebrating the accomplishments of its young people, whether they occur in the showing, the classroom, or beyond. Brody Brogan is proving that the values learned through raising Hereford cattle—hard work, dedication, and perseverance—can open doors far beyond the pasture gate. ♦

150 YEARS STRONG The Hereford Legacy in Texas

"It was at or near this spot in the year of our Lord 1876 that the first registered Hereford cattle set their hooves in Texas and thereafter revolutionized the beef cattle industry of the United States of America."

Those words are inscribed on a bronze monument located on the grounds of the Clay County Courthouse in Henrietta, Texas. Dedicated in October 1980, the marker honors Captain William S. "Sude" Ikard and his brother, E. F. Ikard, whose vision forever changed the course of the Texas cattle industry.

The Ikard brothers are credited with bringing the first registered Hereford cattle into Texas in 1876, laying the foundation for what would become one of the state's most influential beef breeds. Following the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876, they purchased 10 registered Herefords and shipped them to Texas.

Although most of the original animals were lost during the difficult journey, the brothers refused to abandon their dream. They later imported additional Herefords, including cattle descended from the famous herd of Queen Victoria of England.

More than a monument to the arrival of a new breed, the marker commemorates the beginning of a transformation. It represents the shift from the Longhorn era to a more progressive beef industry and the birth of what would eventually become known as "Hereford Country" across the Texas Panhandle. Nearly 150 years after the first Herefords stepped onto Texas soil, the legacy of the Ikard brothers continues to shape the state's cattle industry and the generations of breeders who followed in their footsteps. ♦ is a tradition in Norway...look up Per Gynt if you want more details. Reviewing these stories, they all happened on my Norway trip!

SOUTH AFRICA

In Switzerland, I got a brand-new appreciation for cheeses, in Japan – we had a Sake tasting (good Sake is good, cheap is not), in Japan we literally ate sushi right off the tuna that they had just caught.

In Argentina we experienced a “barbeque” where they split the calf open, grilled it on an open fire and eventually we were served “beef” and my piece still had hair on it. Needless to say, I passed it to my friend who thought it was fine.

Oh, and then the rice overdose in Japan caused me to not eat rice for well over a year. EVERYTHING had rice somehow attached to it. That trip also included helping a colleague from Canada to the emergency room in Sendai (Japan). She was dehydrated and I had to tell the doctor to speed up that drip because we had a train to catch. (side note: when I went to pay the bill, we were freaking because we had no idea how much it was going to cost. I went to the desk to pay her bill after we combined every Yen we still had. Shockingly it turned out to be almost to the penny (Yen) that we had and we were out of there!)

And I do believe on every trip out of the country, I have almost kissed the ground once I was back on American soil. If you have never been out of the U.S., I highly encourage you to get a passport and take a trip. It doesn't have to be three weeks, it can be like my week in New Zealand and that's a long way to go for only a week!

One final memory:

I remember being in Germany, in a taxi to the airport. The very pleasant driver asked where I was flying to. I told him I was going home to the U.S. He gently turned to me and said “Oh...paradise”. Yes sir, you are right. Happy Birthday America.

Here's to another 250 glorious years.

A Lifetime with HEREFORDS

Ronnie Schlegel carries on a family legacy built on hard work, tradition and a passion for Hereford cattle

For Ronnie Schlegel, Hereford cattle have never been just a business. They have been a lifelong passion rooted in family history, hard work and generations of ranching tradition.

The Olney, Texas, cattleman is the third generation of his family to raise cattle in Young County, carrying forward a legacy that began more than a century ago when his grandfather immigrated from Germany.

"My grandfather and his brother came to America when he was 15-years-old," Schlegel said. "He worked on the Triangle Ranch near Iowa Park.

Schlegel's grandfather married a woman whose family had immigrated from Germany in 1875. When she inherited the family ranch, the foundation was laid for what would become Schlegel and Sons.

Over the decades, the operation expanded under the leadership of Schlegel's grandfather, father and uncles. Eventually, the ranch was divided among his brothers, with Ronnie retaining the registered Hereford herd that had become his passion.

A Calf That Changed Everything

Although cattle had always been part of family life, Schlegel traces his personal interest to a single calf purchased when he was just 8 or 9 years old.

His family needed a calf for a first-calf heifer that had lost her own calf. The calf they bought at the sale barn in nearby Mineral Wells became Ronnie's responsibility.

"I had to take care of that calf, and that's really where my interest in cattle began," he recalled.

That early experience sparked a passion that quickly grew through 4-H and FFA projects. Schlegel began exhibiting Hereford steers and soon found himself immersed in the breed that would shape his future.

A pivotal opportunity came during high school when he was selected for a Sears and Roebuck Foundation youth program that awarded a Hereford bull to promising young exhibitors. His bull originated from the famed Flat Top Ranch in Walnut Springs.

Participants were required to care for, exhibit and eventually use the bull in their breeding programs. For Schlegel, the experience proved transformative.

The bull sired a reserve grand champion Polled Hereford steer at the 1971 Fort Worth Livestock Show, giving Schlegel his first major success and opening the door to registered cattle production.

"That was really my entry into the registered cattle business," he said.

The accomplishment encouraged the family to add a registered Hereford segment a few years later alongside their commercial cow herd.

Building a Program

Schlegel's commitment to the cattle industry extended beyond the ranch.

After graduating from high school, he attended Texas Tech University, earning bachelor's and master's degrees in ruminant nutrition. He continued with doctoral studies at Kansas State University, focusing on animal breeding, beef cattle production and management.

While at Kansas State, he made a purchase that would forever influence the future of the family herd.

At the university's annual Hereford production sale, Schlegel purchased three registered females that became the foundation females of the Schlegel and Sons registered Hereford program.

"They were the beginning of what we have today," he said.

Over the years, the herd has incorporated genetics from some of the breed's most respected programs, particularly Barber Ranch cattle.

One of the most influential sires in the operation's history arrived in 2008 when Schlegel purchased an interest in KSU Wildcat 656 from the Kansas State breeding program.

The bull quickly earned recognition across the country, capturing a regional American Hereford Association Show Bull of the Year title in 2009. He also claimed grand champion honors at the Kansas and Iowa State Fairs and was named reserve grand champion at the State Fair of Texas.

Wildcat's influence remains evident throughout the herd today.

"We can still trace a lot of our females back to him," Schlegel said.

Marketing Through Relationships

Schlegel has built his customer base through private treaty sales and strategic participation in select Hereford events.

He is a consistent consignor to the Texas Hereford Association (THA) Buffalo Bull Sale and has participated in the Fort Worth Invitational Hereford Female Sale. For many years, he also hauled bulls to Northeast Texas for the Red River Sale.

Those events, he believes, have been critical to maintaining visibility and developing long-term customer relationships.

"Those sales helped us establish contacts and keep our private treaty business strong," he said.

Weathering Drought and Looking Ahead

Like many ranchers across Texas, Schlegel has faced significant challenges from prolonged drought.

For much of the last 15 years, dry conditions across the Olney area have forced reductions in cattle numbers.

"We went from about 60 registered females down to around 30," he said. "Hopefully, as weather patterns seem to be changing, we can begin rebuilding our numbers."

Despite the reductions, Hereford genetics remain an important component throughout the family's ranching operations.

His brothers continue to utilize Hereford cattle in commercial crossbreeding programs with Red Angus influence, producing productive and efficient commercial cattle.

"The heterosis really shines in those cattle," Schlegel said.

In addition to cattle, Schlegel raises wheat and cotton, balancing multiple agricultural enterprises while continuing to improve his registered herd.

A Breed Worth Believing In

Throughout his life, Schlegel has remained a steadfast supporter of the THA and the breed that helped shape his career.

His appreciation for Herefords stems from practical experience gained over decades of ranching on native Texas rangeland.

"Herefords have been good to me, and I fell in love with them in high school," he said. "They bring tremendous docility, and they work very well in our country."

Unlike operations that rely heavily on improved pastures, Schlegel's cattle thrive on native range grasses.

"We're all native range grasses-no fertilized coastal fields here," he said. "We find they can travel, maintain their condition and milk adequately."

For Schlegel, the success of Herefords comes down to functionality, adaptability and hardiness, all qualities that mirror the ranching heritage his family has built over generations.

From a young boy caring for a purchased calf to a respected breeder with decades of experience, Schlegel's story is ultimately one of dedication: to a breed, to a family legacy and to the land that continues to sustain both. ♦

The Ranch Kitchen's Fire Crackers

A Star-Spangled Snack for America 250

As America celebrates her 250th birthday, families across the country will gather to enjoy fireworks, parades, backyard cookouts, and time spent with those they love. One of our favorite snacks to pack along for the festivities is The Ranch Kitchen's Fire Crackers—a simple recipe that Bethany and I recently recreated using Nabisco Mini Saltine Crackers on our KTBS Channel 3 'Mom & Me' cooking segment.

These crunchy, seasoned crackers are packed with flavor, easy to make ahead, and perfect for sharing while watching fireworks light up the summer sky. Whether you're headed to a community celebration, a ranch gathering, or simply enjoying an evening on the porch, they're a crowd-pleasing snack that disappears quickly.

Fire Crackers

- 1 box Saltine Crackers (4 sleeves) - regular size or 2 boxes of mini's
- 1 cup Canola, Grapeseed or Vegetable Oil
- 1 package Hidden Valley Original Ranch Salad Dressing & Seasoning Mix
- 2 teaspoons McCormick Salad Supreme Seasoning
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 2 teaspoons red pepper flakes

Instructions

- Whisk together your dry spice ingredients in a small bowl.
- Add oil to dry ingredients and mix well with a whisk.
- Break open 4 packages of saltine crackers or two boxes of mini saltine crackers and place in a gallon size Ziploc bag one at a time.
- Pour oil and spice mixture two tablespoons at a time over one package of saltine crackers.
- Reseal package and gently shake and move crackers around in the Ziploc baggie to move oil/spice mixture around them.
- Add remaining oil/spice mixture to saltine crackers (one sleeve at a time), seal baggie and mix between additions. Or mix in a large bowl a little at a time.
- I served these immediately in a large bowl. However, you can allow these to sit for 30 minutes and air dry on a cookie sheet and later spoon back in to a new/clean Ziploc bag or plastic container with a top that seals tightly. Either way these seasoned crackers are just about my very favorite snack!

These crackers will feed approximately 20 people if they don't devour more than 10 crackers at a sitting! Travel note: I like to package these crackers into individual snack sized Ziploc bags for road trips and cattle shows as it keeps the crackers more sanitary.

As we reflect on 250 years of American history, we're reminded that some of our nation's greatest strengths are resilience, hard work, and perseverance. Those same qualities are found in the Hereford breed and in the ranching families who have helped feed America for generations. Hereford cattle have weathered challenges, adapted through changing times, and remain a symbol of dependability and strength—qualities that mirror the spirit of our country.

From all of us at Nolan Herefords and The Ranch Kitchen, we wish you and your family a joyful, meaningful, and safe America 250 Celebration. May your day be filled with good food, cherished traditions, and gratitude for the freedoms we enjoy.

Application for Membership in the Texas Hereford Association

Benefits of a THA Membership

The Texas Hereford Association (THA) was organized in 1899 in Fort Worth, Texas. Its membership has included the elite of the Texas Hereford industry since its inception and continues to have elite loyal members and supporters.

As an association one of its goals is the promotion of Hereford genetics in Texas and connect buyers and sellers. The THA sponsors the Powerhouse Commercial Heifer Show and Sale in January during the Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo (FWSSR), along with the Fall Classic Bull & Female Sale in Buffalo, Texas, in October. Both sales are ways that members can market their cattle and promote their operations.

The THA is also represented at many industry events including the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Convention and Texas A&M Beef Cattle Short Course, along with other statewide seminars and events. The annual meeting of the THA is held during the Hereford weekend at the FWSSR in January.

The Texas Hereford Association Foundation is a 501(c)3 portion of the THA. Its purpose is to support educational programs and youth through scholarships and internships.

The Texas Junior Hereford Association is for our young future Hereford breeders. The members' membership extends through their 22nd birthday with the opportunity to participate in junior activities at age 7 by January of the current year. The largest state cattle breed show in the country is hosted by the TJHA in late May/early June each summer and draws more than 500 head and more than 240 participants. Many contests outside of the show ring are held during this event including public speaking, quiz bowl and poster contests. Many scholarships are also presented during this show.

The Texas Hereford Auxiliary is an affiliated association that includes women who are proud to support the Hereford breed. Their annual meeting is held during the activities in Fort Worth in January. They offer scholarships as well and help to promote the Certified Hereford Beef® program.

The official magazine of the THA is the Texas Hereford. It is published 11 times each year with the June/July combined to serve as a valuable directory of members of the association, junior association and Auxiliary. It is a resource used by thousands in the cattle industry. All THA members receive a free listing with information pertaining to your herd such as herd sires, bloodlines, location of farm or ranch, telephone numbers, etc. This herd listing alone is worth the price of membership.

As the only publication in Texas devoted solely to Herefords it includes news about the association, calendar of events, news from the American Hereford Association and timely editorial features. You are encouraged to advertise and take advantage of having your name available for others to find you. Low rates make it a wise choice your marketing program.

The THA continues to be a proud leader in the livestock industry promoting ownership of quality Hereford cattle.

ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

I hereby make application for membership in the TEXAS HEREFORD ASSOCIATION. Upon becoming a member, I will abide by the constitution and By-Laws of the Association and also the rules of the American Hereford Association.

Desert Mart
"Value World" Sale
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 2026
Kaycee, Wyoming

Yes, sale season is right around the corner, and many of you are looking for just the right genetics to move even faster toward consistent excellence. Here are some Desert Mart solutions:

- ★ A NO-FRILLS COW HERD → It's not so much what they look like; it's how their calves look! In our unforgiving elements and management, under-achievers are eliminated regardless of how "pretty" they appear.
- ★ AN EVERYTHING GETS MEASURED APPROACH → Each lot in our sale has at least 35 points of precise evaluation! Some may consider all of this "hide on / hide off" measuring excessive, but it's for sure taking the guesswork out!
- ★ FOLLOW-UP DEDICATION TO OUR CUSTOMERS → We remain so humbled by the huge number of repeat customers... some of whom have bought for 40 years! We promise to pull every lever to make your genetic search both rewarding and profitable.

Announcing the Desert Mart "Value World" Sale THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 2026.
