Dear Ms. Johnson

I want to thank you for giving me the opportunity to come out and intern for you this past weekend! I don't think I've ever had as much fun working for someone as I did with you. Thank you for talking with me and showing me what the world of Ag Communications looks like. I look forward to finding my place in this exciting new field!

Texas Hereford Auxiliary

Thank you very much for selecting me as a recipient of the Texas Hereford Auxiliary scholarship. I am honored to be a recipient of this scholarship and your generous contribution will assist me in pursuing my Bachelor's degree in Animal Science with a Science Concentration at Texas Tech University.

In May 2020, I purchased my first Hereford heifer and began showing. I am very thankful for the support that I have received over the years from the fellow Hereford members and the friendships that have developed. This experience has been invaluable.

The Texas Hereford Auxiliary scholarship will greatly assist me in paying for my college education. Thank you again for your generosity, support and investment in my future.

Sincerely
John Gilbreath

Editor's Note

by Diane Johnson | Editor | Manager

We bring you this issue full of results from the State Show that was held in June. We do have a time lapse with coverage due to the recent June/July Directory issue that interrupts us being current with this news. But it does seem like it just happened as this summer is flying by and what a success it was. There were more than 500 entries in the show and over 240 exhibitors who participated in the multitude of contests outside of the show ring and that's what it's all about. Not everyone can show an animal but they can try their best in the speech contest, create a poster, use their photo skills or prove how much they know in the quiz bowl.

Working on this issue and seeing all these youngsters' smiling faces has made me ponder on where these kids will go in their future. I was involved as a youngster and know that the skills I learned are certainly something that I use every day. So as you peruse the pages do you think we can

*Bulls always available at private treaty on the ranch, as well as

Since 1898, we've been continuously working to improve both our registered and commercial horned Herefords. By developing the classic west Texas Hereford using 21st century genetics, we produce rugged, sturdy, sound cattle that will get the job done in any operation.

The upshot – docile, easy fleshing cattle that are accustomed to all vehicles and trailers, as well as being worked with a horse, on foot and with dogs.

Whether it's beef on the hoof, or beef for your freezer, we are your best source for high quality.

Cattlemen are well aware of their responsibility to grow good grass, raise quality livestock and their ability to coexist with wildlife in the area, but there is a whole other species requiring management that may not cross the mind as frequently.

Parasites in cattle are less visible, but still an important area requiring attention that cattlemen can add to their résumé of management and while they are certainly less glamorous than cattle or deer on the wide-open land, parasites must be managed to keep cattle and grasses healthy.

Parasites, by definition, are an organism that harms their host and cattle are no exception. When found in livestock, they will reduce the overall weight gain of the animal because the desire for grazing is decreased (reducing dry matter intake) and parasites reduce the ability to digest nutrients because of the inflammation in their stomach if it is an internal parasite.

Dr. Lee Jones, veterinarian for the University of Georgia, said, “Parasites impact animal health and can compromise the host’s immune system and potentially decrease the effectiveness of vaccinations and other herd health measures, leaving your livestock to be susceptible to disease and creating an economic impact on your operation’s budget.”

He added that when the animal is not gaining weight, the producer has less pounds of beef to sell and heifers

in memoriam

Lovell Kuykendall

Lovell Kuykendall passed away on Thursday, June 27 2024, one month shy of his 87th birthday, at his home, in Cherokee, TX. A memorial service was held July 9, 2024 at the Cherokee Baptist Church in Cherokee, TX. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Blaylock Funeral Home in San Saba.

Lovell was born in Temple, Texas on July 27, 1937 to James and Zudora Kuykendall and was raised on the family ranch in Cherokee, Texas. After graduating from Cherokee High School, Lovell continued his education at Texas A&M University and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in 1960. Shortly after graduation, he married Sandra Jones on July 30, 1960.

While at A&M, Lovell was president of the Saddle and Sirloin Club and was a member of at the 1959 National Championship Livestock Judging Team. He was a proud alumni and loved all things Aggie. Throughout his life he followed Aggie athletics, particularly football games, always watching to the bitter end.

Lovell started his working career as a county agent in Howard county and then McCulloch county. In 1965, he moved to Kansas City to work for the American Hereford Association wearing many titles during his 35-year career. Each position he held benefited from his knowledge, dedication and passion for the Hereford breed. He was quoted, "If I wasn't raising Herefords the past 35 years, then I can't think of any place I'd rather be than working with the people promoting the breed." He retired in July of 2000. In 2010 Lovell was inducted into the American Hereford Association Hall of Merit for his contributions to the Hereford industry.

Shortly after retiring, Lovell and Sandy moved back to Texas and built a home on the family ranch in Cherokee which has been in the Kuykendall family since 1878. He could not have been happier to be back in Texas to carry on the work at the ranch with his brother John. Lovell and Sandy spent many happy years at the ranch, making wonderful friends and loved being part of the community. Lovell loved nothing more than to give ranch tours and share the ranch history with family and friends. The Kuykendall ranch was designated as a Texas Century Ranch by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

He is survived by his wife of 63 years, Sandy Kuykendall; son, Jim Kuykendall of Lake Placid, NY; daughters, Karen Blanco and husband Luis of Austin TX, Donna Stewart and husband Darin of Olathe, KS; grandchildren, Clay Stewart and wife Elle, Alyson Stewart and fiancé Will, Kyle Blanco; great grandchildren; Lewie and Norman Stewart; sister-in-law, Patty Kuykendall; niece, Lisa Whittlesey and husband Randel; nephew, Jeff Kuykendall and wife Veronica; great nieces and nephews, Taylor, Cole, Case, Carson, Sydney and Harper and many dear friends.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made in his name to: Cherokee Baptist Church - 102 Aztec St. Cherokee, Tx. 76832; Cherokee Children's Home - P.O. Box 295 Cherokee, Tx. 76832 or Llano County 4-H Program - 1447 E. Hwy. 71, Unit E, Llano, Tx. 78643

Shelly Rene Summerour

Shelly Rene Summerour, 60, of Dallas, Texas, passed away on July 8, 2024. A memorial service with Pastor Ryan Strebeck officiating was held at the Central Methodist Church, Dalhart, Texas, on July 26, 2024. A private burial was conducted prior to the service at Memorial Park Cemetery.

Shelly was born in Dalhart, Texas on December 10, 1963, to Nell and Edward Berry (Buzz)

Summerour. She grew up on the Summerour Ranch with her older sister, Shana, and younger brother, Berry. Shelly graduated from Stratford High School in 1982 and then attended Angelo State University where she majored in Animal Science. Upon graduation, she moved to Dallas where she worked for Business Records Corporation before becoming a People Soft consultant for several large companies. In 2004, she went out on her own, providing consulting services for numerous companies.

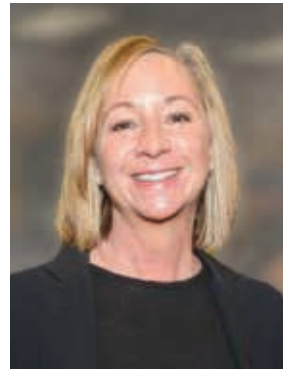

Shelly's friends and family will fondly remember her as the life of the party – someone who could always be counted on for a funny story.

Shelly was preceded in death by her sister, Shana and is survived by her parents Buzz and Nell Summerour of Dalhart; her brother, Berry and wife Jennifer of Houston; her niece, Ashlee Glock of Fort Worth; and her cat, Oakley who now lives with Buzz and Nell; as well as several extended family members including members of the Summerour and Pronger families.

In lieu of flowers, Shelly would appreciate that donations be made to the Humane Society of Dallas County where she adopted Oakley: Humane Society of Dallas County, 2719 Manor Way, Dallas, Texas 75235, or at this link: <https://dognkittycity.org/make-a-donation/>.

impacted by parasites will experience delayed puberty. “Females that experience delayed breeding due to parasites will potentially have reduced longevity. When the female does not stay in the herd long enough to replace her development costs, it is another expense that producers can add to their list.”

Managing for internal and external parasites may look different, but the need remains the same and the operation’s bottom line depends on it.

Typically, producers in the southeast are impacted by internal parasites, like liver flukes, lung worms, coccidia and hairworms, which are more prevalent in the cooler months (the heat creates unfavorable circumstances for survivable).

While the cold can kill the parasite larvae, the larvae find protection in manure and survive by taking shelter in manure pats.

“Cattle acquire an internal parasite by grazing and ingesting infective larvae. A parasite larvae will only climb about four-to-five inches up the plants,” Dr. Jones explained, “When you enter the fall months and have short pastures, we see issues because the cattle are grazing the grass at that shorter height verses the summer months when the grasses grow higher than the larvae can climb.”

Rotational grazing can be the management tool to help prevent cattle from ingesting parasite larvae, along with ensuring accurate stocking rates to allow grass to grow at appropriate levels.

“You want to keep your pastures at five-to-six inches high and consider a deworming program that includes every calf receiving a dewormer,” Dr. Jones continued, “I always recommend every animal under two years of age be dewormed regularly, which will not only support growth, but may help improve fertility in replacement females.”

Common Parasites in Cattle

Internal

- ▶ Hairworms
- ▶ Lung Worms
- ▶ Liver Flukes
- ▶ Coccidia

External

- ◀ Horn Flies
- ◀ Lice
- ◀ Grubs

Lice – both biting and blood-sucking – are transmitted through contact between cattle and usually in the winter months...

On that note, Dr. Jones cautions against using a single dewormer and recommends an injectable and oral dewormer, given at the same time (a full dose of each) to ensure proper management. Historically, dewormers have been recommended twice a year, once in late May/early June and again in November/December. However, rainfall can impact the deworming schedule. Internal parasites need moisture for survival and thus, areas with more rainfall are more susceptible to parasites than dry areas. “We need to reconsider routine overuse of our dewormers and past practices. Internal parasites have developed resistance to commonly used dewormers and practices. This means we need to develop new strategies and practices to maintain effective parasite control programs in our herds,” he said.

External parasites (horn flies, lice and grubs) also pose a problem and require vigilant management. Much like internal parasites, with proper preventative treatments and processes, external parasites can be controlled.

Horn flies peak in late spring after reproducing in fresh cattle manure and decrease in population by mid-summer due to the heat. Because thousands of horn flies can take up residence on one animal, your livestock may experience reduced energy and nervousness while the horn flies suck blood, irritate the animal, and create negative impacts on weight gain. Insecticides, pour-ons, dust chemicals and spot-on chemicals are a options cattlemen have to treat these pesky parasites. Self-treatment options also include oil back rubbers, dust bags and tubes and ear tags.

Lice – both biting and blood-sucking – are transmitted through contact between cattle and usually in the winter months, when cattle are in close proximity for warmth, leading to a lice infestation within the herd. If severe, cattle infected with lice could develop a condition known as Lousy, which is an itching skin disease associated with anemia. To stay ahead of the game and prevent and/or treat lice within your herd, consider administering insecticides every two weeks and/or use spray, dust, spot-on or pour-on treatment methods.

Rounding out the list of common external parasites are grubs, which are the larvae of heel flies. They lay their eggs on the hairs of the lower legs of cattle in the late winter and spring and migrate from there to cover the backs of cattle. This leads to weight loss and reductions in milk production. Much like horn flies and lice, insecticides can be administered along with pour-ons, dust and sprays.

Parasites are a nuisance for the livestock and a detriment to your bottom line. While they aren’t large in size, they are harmful to your production and should be a key line in your management plan, for the benefit of the herd and your financials. ★ predict the future? Will the Champion Pre-PeeWee winner in the poster contest eventually become an artist? Or will these public speaking competitors make it their goal to eventually lead a company and speak at their annual meeting... and not be nervous? Do we have a herdsman of the year in our midst? Of course we do to all of these questions! These kids who participated in the contests regardless if they were in the show ring are getting experiences that will grow them into young and strong leaders whether it is in their 4-H Club or eventually any kind of organization that is out there.

So I hope you enjoy the coverage and you will, no doubt, find someone you know, your child, grandchild, neighbor's kid! More coverage from this summer's Junior Nationals and the recent Faces of Leadership Conference just held in Fort Worth will come in next issues. These two events have been epic and there just isn't enough space to cover everything in one issue. So we'll stretch it out!

I don't have a lot of space for this column so I want to mention the Fall Classic sale in Buffalo sale is coming up with a deadline of "now". Missy is taking consignments and will be your lead person in knowing all information for the sale on Wednesday, October 30. You can find more information on page 8.

Plenty of other fall events are ahead and it's not too early to book for Kansas City and the annual meeting of the American Hereford Association (AHA) plus get your room booked for Fort Worth and cross it off your list of things to do. Find the links on our web-continued on page 23

the Kansas Hereford queen. I remember meeting her in 1979 at an American Junior Hereford Association Convention that used to be held in conjunction with the American Royal in the fall. She and many other Texas juniors became friends of mine and, to this day, still are. I will never forget her dry sense of humor and sweet voice. She is gone too soon but may she be reunited with her sweet sister, Shana, and they are both wearing their crowns in heaven. Our sincere condolences go to the families of these two dedicated Hereford families with fond memories of their well-lived lives. ★

THE SALE IS COMING!

Yes, it's that time again!

Time to start planning to participate in the Annual Desert ★ Mart Sale

Here are just some of the reasons to plan:

- ★★★ Unpresidented Demand → 2023 saw our best average, the most repeat customers, and the most new buyers!
- ★★★ Uncommon Genetics → a herd stacked for rancher and consumer traits perhaps longer than any other breeder; this gives you the consistent "Power-Punch" you want!
- ★★★ Dynamic Results → whether it's a better breed-up, or quality females or just astounding eye appeal, our customers continue to tell us how pleased they are with the Desert ★ Mart Program!
- ★★★ Lead Time → one of our most popular drawing cards. Times are changing and the scramble for the best carcass Herefords will set the pace!
