message from _____ Diane Johnson THA Manager/Editor

This is why we do it...

First, we are excited to present this new Directory for the Texas Hereford Association. Now in its 126th year as an Association I continue to be amazed by the vision from the founders and now to think it is as strong as ever.

There is power in numbers right now in your Association. In the past six months we have added 71 new members to the THA and the total membership is nearing 370. At the recent State Junior Show, there were 286 exhibitors of which 73 were new! There were 609 entries in the multitude of contests and 593 entries in the shows. To say incredible is an understatement. Think of all these youngsters coming along needing new genetics in their herd so make sure to reach out to work them in to your marketing plans.

And, for those of you into collectibles and wearables, if you have anything with a Hereford on it, you are holding on to the most popular breed out there. You can probably sell a shirt with a Hereford right off your back! Makes me proud again to have grown up in this unstoppable breed.

One of two new programs that E.C. mentions in his column is our new involvement with the Texas Cattle Feeders Association's (TCFA) Junior Fed Beef Challenge. TCFA has had this program for 25 years and it was designed to encourage young people to gain practical experience in feeding commercial beef cattle. The cattle have been on feed throughout the spring and the results after slaughter in late July will be coupled with the participants recordkeeping scores.

The second new program will be the Texas Hereford Winter Classic show to be held in Abilene December 5-7 at the Taylor County Fairgrounds. The shows will be for open and junior cattle, steers and Mini Herefords as well. Out-of-state cattle are welcome! Details will be coming out in the next few weeks, but it will be a great show and a lot of excitement has come from the news of a new show!

I hope you enjoy this issue that we take very seriously to produce a quality magazine. We feel this is something that you can use as a reference all year and hope you do! One thing to note that many years of past issues are located on the Texas Hereford website. And, as soon as a magazine has gone to press, we have it posted online. So watch for notices on our Facebook page and you can see it before it's even printed or in your mailbox! Scroll to the bottom of the THA home page and you'll see where you can click to get to the issues.

My thanks to the THA board for supporting your staff of Missy Coffelt and our production designer, GG Park. And my biggest thanks are to you the advertisers who not only have advertised in this issue but support us all year. Stay Hereford Proud! ★ message from _____

P.S. This is not my child. I just like holding babies.

E.C. Rosson THA President

Another year is flying by and I want to say a big thanks for all the support that you as Hereford breeders give to the Texas Hereford Association. This year has been a great year for our breed as we continue to hold our place in the market. Hereford sales continue to stay steady and strong and the market, weather and enthusiasm for the breed has kept us on top.

A few highlights from the past go back to our Fall Classic Bull and Female Sale held in Buffalo in late October. One of the largest crowds both in person and online was seen in recent years. I encourage you to consider entering either bulls or females in this sale. It not only is a place to sell your cattle but also showcase your operation. Buffalo, Texas is a great centralized location for your cattle to go in any direction, so we hope you consider it. More information on the sale is on page 54 and Missy Coffelt, our field representative, does a great job of coordinating this for the THA.

In January our annual meeting and all the activities around the Hereford weekend during the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo was another huge success. Enthusiasm was evident with attendance and your generosity shone through as you continue to support our youth through the Foundation. In 2026 the meeting will again be held at the Hilton Garden Inn and include a room block so watch for information on that in future magazines and social media.

The Fort Worth Powerhouse Sale is open to both registered and commercial Hereford females as well as Red and Black Baldies. Females are preferred to be yearlings or up to 2-year-olds with calf at side. Contact Dustin Layton, Missy Coffelt or any Executive Committee member for any questions or information.

And, speaking of the youth, the recent State Show in Belton was another record-breaking event. This is a premier event for our juniors and now many prepare to go to the National Junior Hereford Expo in Louisville, Kentucky. The opportunities offered to our youth in this breed are incredible and THA members continue to support these events. No doubt Texas Juniors certainly make their mark at Nationals, and we wish you the best as you represent the state.

Two new exciting programs we have are supporting the Fed Steer Shootout with the Texas Cattle Feeders Association. The THA Foundation is offering bonus for Hereford influenced steers. The steers were validated in March and in mid-July will be processed and data presented for awards. We hope to grow this program in the future with added monies for the program. Big thanks to Mark Ellison for making this program come to fruition. It's something that can bring more attention to the Hereford breed in the feedyards and packers will see the benefits of the white face on the rails. More coverage will appear on the success of this event later this fall in the magazine.

The second event is the announcement the board has made on a new show the first weekend in December. This show has been named the Texas Hereford Winter Classic, and it will be held for the first time in Abilene at the Taylor County Fairgrounds. It will be an open show along with show for the juniors.

Also, this year the World Hereford Conference will be held in Kansas City during the American Royal show and annual meetings of the American Hereford Association (AHA). Three tours are a part of the event with a pre-tour in Montana and two post-tours, one across Nebraska into Wyoming and Colorado and the second one coming to our great state! The group will start in Oklahoma City and work their way to Fort Worth and base out of Fort Worth taking in several stops and special events. More details may be found on the AHA website.

Finally, I and everyone across the state are thankful for the rain and the strong cattle market. With that said, I encourage you to continue culling and selecting at a high standard. The Hereford breed had made great strides, and we must continue to press for even greater excellence. I want to thank the Executive Committee, Diane and Missy for all the hard work they have put into our Association this past year. If there is anything I, the staff, or the executive committee can do to help, please reach out to us. We welcome your feedback ★

We don't just talk Function and Efficiency, we live it!

- We are one of the few members of the American Hereford Association to receive the Platinum TPR Breeder award each year.
- We are data driven, but even more driven by a cattleman's eye. We won't tolerate problems of any kind.
- We A.I. over 90% of our females to take advantage of the nation's top genetics, and when something works, we aren't afraid to line it up.
- We develop our bulls and heifers in the pasture with limited feed. Our cattle are never fat, but in great working condition. We sell hard-working, long-lasting bulls.
- Here are some of the zero tolerance rules we live by:
 - We have a 45-day spring breeding season with all open cows sold.
 - If a cow doesn't raise a calf for any reason she is culled.
 - Any cow with udder suspension or teat size below our standards are culled.
 - Udder quality is a total priority in our herd!
 - We don't tolerate any functional problems such as bad eyes, bad feet or any soundness problems.
 - Cows who produce low performing calves are culled.
 - Our customers expect docile cattle and so do we. Any wild cattle are culled.

Queen of Cow Country

The Enduring Power of the Hereford x Brahman F1 Female

She's more than just a standout female. She's earned the title Queen of Cow Country, and she continues to wear the crown year after year. Meet the Hereford x Brahman F1 female, a crossbred powerhouse widely celebrated by Southern cattle producers for her unmatched productivity and staying power.

The "F1" designation means first-generation, the result of crossing two purebred breeds. This first cross delivers maximum heterosis, commonly known as hybrid vigor. And that's not just tradition talking. Decades of research, including studies from the U.S. Meat Animal Research Center in Clay Center, Nebraska, confirm that crossbred females tend to remain in production longer and wean heavier calves over time compared to their purebred counterparts.

This "Queen" combines the best of both worlds. From the Hereford side: maternal strength, calm temperament, milk production, early maturity, and carcass quality traits are added. From the Brahman: heat tolerance, insect resistance, longevity, and milk output are gained. Visually, she's known for her eye-catching dark red brindle and white pattern—earning her the nickname "tigerstripe." Her longevity sets her apart, giving cattlemen confidence in her ability to remain a sound producer and add value to their operation for more years.

Her calves benefit from this strong genetic blend with improved fertility, heat and pest resistance, growth, and carcass traits, translating into stronger returns for cattlemen.

The biggest negative on the cross has been what to do with the steer counterparts, but with increased selection for carcass traits by Brahman breeders and by selecting strong carcass Hereford genetics, this side of the equation is changing. Another development that underscores the F1 female's value to the industry has been to produce F1s through embryo transfer using sexed semen. This provides the producer with a much higher percentage of F1 females to sell or retain.

Both the American Hereford Association (AHA) and the American Brahman Breeders Association (ABBA) recognize her value. AHA's Maternal Advantage program and ABBA's long-standing F1 Certification initiatives give producers marketing support and tools to capitalize on this elite female.

You'll find the "Queen" commanding top bids at special replacement sales across the South and consistently leading the market at local sale barns. We visited with producers and industry experts to discover what motivates them to raise her and what keeps buyers coming back for more.

John Malazzo

John Malazzo Farms – Caldwell, Texas

A lifelong cattleman, John Malazzo began focusing on F1 production around 2005. At the time, he ran a large crossbred herd, but programs led by the late Glen Richardson in Sonora and the influence of local cattlemen Roy Hermann and Paris Gibbs steered him toward the Brahman x Hereford cross. Today, that's all he raises.

Malazzo markets his females through special replacement sales at the San Antonio and Houston Livestock Shows, while the remaining 200+ head are sold annually in March through a replacement female sale of all breeds and crosses. His buyers include a loyal base of repeat customers and more than 100 youth exhibitors each year who purchase heifers for county fair pen projects. "It's the best scenario—cattle and kids," he says, noting that many of today's young buyers are the sons and daughters of past 4-H and FFA customers.

He breeds Brahman females to Hereford bulls selected for calving ease, moderate frame size, maternal strength, and carcass quality. While Malazzo is proud of the F1 females he produces, he's just as pleased with the performance of their steer mates. Retaining ownership on his steers, he reports near full market value returns. "If you choose the right bulls, the F1 steer is a profitable terminal cross," he explains.

Skipper Williams

Williams Cattle Company – DeBerry, Texas

In the Piney Woods of East Texas and neighboring Keithville, Louisiana, Williams Cattle Company has made a name for itself producing F1 females.

About 15 years ago, lifelong cattleman Skipper Williams transitioned to F1 production. His reason was

The Brahman x Hereford F1 truly brings the best of both worlds. Her Hereford influence adds maternal strength, docility, milk production, early maturity, and carcass quality, while the Brahman side contributes heat tolerance, insect resistance, longevity, and even more milk. The combination makes her the ideal F1 female for Southern cow country and she is now working in neighboring regions.

straightforward: market demand. “The market for an F1 female was what convinced us to begin producing her,” he says. “And our customers are just as clear on why they buy her, she makes them money and she has longevity.”

Williams uses Brahman cows bred to top-end Hereford bulls to produce the popular tigerstripe F1. He sells heifers across Texas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma through select sales and private treaty, while retaining ownership of the steers through finishing and harvest.

In recent years, he’s seen steady improvement in the steer market, which he credits to better genetics and selective breeding. “I’m picky about our bulls,” he says. “I want calving ease, growth, good feet and legs and they’ve got to be strong on carcass traits.”

Cary Crow

Trans Ova Genetics - Bryan, Texas

A growing trend in F1 replacement female production—across various breed combinations—is the use of embryo transfer paired with heifer sexed semen. Cary Crow, who brings more than 25 years of experience in the genetic side of the cattle industry, says the Brahman x Hereford F1 is the predominant cross currently being produced through Trans Ova Genetics’ program. The initiative is designed specifically to generate elite replacement females. In 2024 alone, Crow says they produced approximately 2,300 F1 embryos and over half were tigerstripes.

The program is attracting progressive, quality minded commercial cattlemen who want to increase the number of females from this valuable cross in their herds. Some are utilizing their own Brahman cows for embryo transfer, while others are purchasing embryos directly from Trans Ova Genetics.

“We’re contracting with select registered Brahman herds to produce these F1 embryos,” explains Crow. “We go to the seedstock operation, identify the specific cows we want, and even at times, collect oocytes right there on the ranch. Then we fertilize those with pre-selected Hereford semen—sires we’ve already evaluated and chosen for their superior traits. The resulting embryos are then made available to commercial producers aiming to increase the number of high-quality F1 females in their next calf crop.”

Crow adds that Trans Ova embryos are also becoming popular with 4-H and FFA youth who use them to raise females for county fair pen competitions.

In the program, typically the Brahman female is used as the donor, paired with carefully selected registered Hereford bulls. Crow notes that the wide selection of Hereford sires, combined with the breed’s reliable EPD accuracies, makes this combination especially appealing.

“By selecting for the most economically important traits,” Crow emphasizes, “producers can make the most of the resources they have. It’s just one more valuable tool available to today’s cattlemen.”

Cade Harris TJHA President

Howdy, It is with great excitement that I get to introduce myself to the Texas Junior Hereford Association and the Texas Hereford Association! I am Cade Harris from Salado, Texas and will be serving as your 2025/2026 Texas Junior Hereford Association President. My family and I own Harris livestock company where I have enjoyed working within the operation most of my life. Specifically to the TJHA, I have been showing in the association for 12 years now and have held leadership roles leading up to being president this year. I am grateful to have this opportunity to lead this association as it evolves. Besides being involved in the TJHA I am also involved with many other extracurricular activities. Being involved with my local 4H chapter has allowed me to hold various officer positions. One of my greatest honors and passions is serving my church four hours a week in our special-needs ministry department. I currently attend Salado high school, where I will be a senior this fall and am involved with three different Varsity sports giving me the opportunity to have qualified nine times for UIL 4A state events in three different sports! I run track, cross country, and play soccer as well as leading our cross-country and track teams as captain for three years!

As you may know we are voting to evolve into one association for the Junior Hereford youth in Texas and currently there are proposed changes to our current TJHA. I along with my great group of current officers will work diligently to proceed as a new organization or as the current. Whatever that looks like, we look forward to our future as a strong group of young Hereford enthusiasts helping develop our leadership skills and promoting this great breed.

I would be remiss if I didn't also introduce your 2025/2026 officer team! Your President elect is Ainsley Williams (Van Alstyne), Vice president is Abby Wohleb (Whitney), secretary is Jarrett Worrell (Mason), treasurer is Lilly Leal (Willis), reporter is Caly Blackshear (Mathis), and parliamentarian Paisley Miller (Bellville).

We hope to see all of you at the next show, sale, or wherever Hereford folks will gather!

All my best,

cattle industry. A producer of F1s himself, Johnson also markets more than 7,500 head of commercial females each year through special sales, along with additional females sold private treaty throughout the calendar.

“I grew up on the Gulf Coast, and she’s always been a fixture,” Johnson said. “I started marketing commercial females in 1991, and I can personally tell you, she’s always been in demand. We hold four major sales a year, sometimes more, and the tigerstripe makes up a high percentage of the offering every time.”

While most of his tigerstripes are marketed across Texas and the Southeast, their appeal stretches far beyond those regions.

“There’s strong demand all the way to Florida, and we move quite a few into Oklahoma,” he said. “Every couple of years, we ship two to three potloads to a customer in California. We’ve also had buyers from Arizona, and just this year we sent a load to Kentucky. We’ve even sold into Colorado. She’s proving herself productive in a variety of environments—but her popularity in the South is as strong as ever.”

F1 tigerstripe females, when crossed with Angus or other Bos taurus breeds, are a profitable and productive combination for today’s cow-calf producers.

Johnson attributes much of her staying power to her longevity and her ability to pass on hybrid vigor to her calves.

“She will be raising a calf long into her teens and that’s an asset. Most of our customers breed these F1s to Angus or Charolais bulls,” he said. “That resulting calf—three-quarters bos taurus and a quarter Brahman—performs well in the feedlot and grades high.

She may be called the Queen of Cow Country in the South, but her influence stretches far beyond any one region. Backed by science, shaped by experience, and trusted by generations of cattlemen, the Hereford x Brahman F1 female continues to set the standard for longevity, adaptability, and profitability. As breeding programs evolve and new tools emerge, she remains firmly at the center, proving time and again that when it comes to dependable, high-performing females, the crown still fits. ★

auxiliary news

Jean, Patrick and "super kid" Laurel!

Jean Dudley | THA Auxiliary | First Vice President

Ranching is a profession of hope. I'm borrowing a bit from Canadian Brian Brett's original quote about farming, but I think the sentiment holds true across all of agriculture. It takes an abiding faith, inherent optimism and, often, a multi-generational level of resilience to remain in this industry.

Another line that I am fond is that hope isn't a strategy. I feel like this balance of hope and planning are where most of us live. We walk on faith, but also do everything we can (and maybe more than we should sometimes!) to help make what we're doing work.

To me, that's the perfect summation of the Texas Hereford Auxiliary – hope and hustle!

Back in 2018 or so I first got involved with the organization and it is beyond surprising to realize that in a few short months I will have the opportunity to serve as president. I had just moved to Texas from Pennsylvania, and meeting other people who were passionate about animal agriculture and the Hereford breed was such a great way to start to feel at home! Fast forward a few years and my January doesn't feel complete without attending the THA meeting and sale in Fort Worth. And, now, we're starting to plan June plans around a trip to Belton where our junior members gather to show, learn, grow, and make lifelong connections.

Since my first Texas Hereford Auxiliary meeting the world paused and restarted, I officially joined a Hereford family (I joke that I'm the secret Dudley since I haven't gotten to meet everyone yet!), and my husband, Patrick, and I have started our own family with our daughter Laurel arriving a few years ago. As someone who spent many years working in support of the livestock industry, I still am in awe of the folks who make it happen every day. And I'm really glad I get to support some of those future producers in my work at Tarleton State University in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

I also view being part of the Texas Hereford Auxiliary as a great way to support agriculture and the Texas Hereford breed. Whether we are fundraising to provide financial support to our junior members through scholarships, helping support the Texas Hereford royalty, or gathering together to start or build on what are sometimes lifelong friendships, this group has existed for decades to promote and support the Texas Hereford breed.

As we look at the future – for our breed, association, and industry – we can all play a role in shaping where we go. The Texas Hereford Auxiliary stands on the shoulders of some amazing women who have helped lead the charge. It's an honor and a privilege to help continue their work ... and, hopefully, raise a young woman who will do the same one day.

If you are interested in being part of the Texas Hereford Auxiliary, we'd love to have you! We meet in person every January during Hereford weekend at the Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo and have volunteers out at the Texas Junior Hereford State Show. We're also helping host The Gathering with the National Hereford Women in Desdemona, Texas September 19-21, 2025. You can also show your support by contributing to our scholarship fundraisers, merchandise sales, and other activities.

I'm excited for what I hope will be a very good year and I look forward to working with all of you to make that happen! ★

What do P&R bulls grow-up to look like?

P&R Advancer L 234K was the top selling bull in the P&R 2023 sale, purchased by Webb Farms of Canton, OK. 234K has P&R's "range cattle efficiency" bred in providing the maternal advantage you can't find anywhere else in any other breed, line bred to maternal giants (GK Genetic Explosion – 13 times; CL 1 Domino 5110R – 2 times; and Churchill Sensation 028X) that have led the Hereford breed for decades and will continue to lead far into the future!

What is the real benefit of using P&R bred Hereford bulls?

Congratulations to Brandon Webb and his two sons, Clayton Webb and Wade Webb, for their top selling consignment to the Fairview Livestock Commission Company this past May, a powerful set of top steers sired by P&R & Graft-Britton bulls!

Jarrett Worrell stands with his heifer, Rabbit at the backdrop of the Texas Junior Hereford Association State Show. Once a longshot to survive, Rabbit defied the odds and is now a champion. Friends and family joined Worrell in celebrating the determined heifer's remarkable journey.

From Rescue to the Ring:

The Remarkable Journey of Rabbit

the Hereford Heifer

What began as a desperate rescue effort turned into a championship moment for a little Hereford heifer named “Rabbit” at the recent Texas Junior Hereford Association State Show.

Rabbit is owned by Jarrett Worrell of Mason, Texas, whose keen eye and big heart helped save her life. Last fall, Jarrett and his mom, Shannon, were checking cows when they noticed an old show heifer of Jarrett’s named Lacey licking a calf. At the time, none of their cows were close to calving, which made the scene all the more surprising.

“When we got to her, the calf was breathing, but she had no hair, no teeth, and her hooves were too soft for her to stand,” Jarrett recalled. “But she was alive and she had the longest eyelashes.”

Shannon was doubtful the frail calf would survive, but Jarrett was determined to give her a chance. As they stood deciding what to do next, Lacey accidentally stepped on the calf, an incident that seemed certain to end the story before it began. But the calf held on, fighting to live.

Coincidentally, a set of twins had been born on the ranch the day before, and the family decided to graft one of those calves onto Lacey. They loaded the cow into the trailer and the struggling newborn rode in Jarrett's lap back to headquarters.

"I gave her some colostrum from Lacey, then we weighed her," Jarrett said. "She was just 22 pounds. We put her in a warm enclosure where it stayed 90 degrees. We tried all kinds of bottles, thinking the smaller the better, but she wanted a bottle with a large nipple right from the start."

The one thing Rabbit had in her favor was a strong nursing reflex and they fed her hourly in the first day. After 12 hours, she was still alive. Then 24 hours. Hope was growing. Rabbit had become a full-blown family project.

She wasn't out of the woods, though. Rabbit battled pneumonia and suffered two seizures. Jarrett's dad, James, was with her during one of those episodes and feared the worst. But once again, the little heifer's will to live won out.

In those early days, Rabbit's skin was tight, cracked, and rough—"like a Brillo pad," Jarrett said. The Worrells treated it with Neosporin and washed her in a house shower to keep her clean. Despite their efforts, she bears a few scars today from the sores that developed.

At one week old, her hooves hardened enough for her to stand. Soon, she was following the family dogs everywhere, mimicking their every move and even learning to knock on the door when she wanted to come inside.

"She really thought she was a dog," Jarrett said, laughing.

Shannon began sharing Rabbit's story on social media, and the scrappy heifer quickly developed a following. As Rabbit grew stronger, fans began to ask if she would ever be shown.

Rabbit shown at 2 days old, weighing 22 lbs.

"Genetically, Rabbit is a female we want in our herd," Jarrett explained. "She's sired by Red Kingdom and her dam is Barber Brielle Lacey. Honestly, we hadn't even considered showing her, as we were just focused on keeping her alive and seeing if she could grow into a cow."

But family friend Rylee Barber Matheny pointed out that Rabbit qualified to show as a Miniature Hereford under show rules.

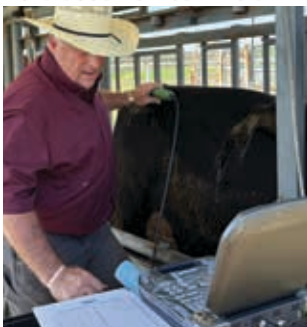

So, they gave it a shot and Rabbit delivered. At the Texas Junior Hereford State Show, she won her class and was named Reserve Division Champion, cheered on by her many fans.

Rabbit's story is one of heart, hope, and the unwavering determination of a family, especially Jarrett, who refused to give up. Today, Rabbit has graduated from the yard and barn to pasture life with the rest of the herd.

"We're still trying to convince her she's a cow now, not a dog," Jarrett said with a smile. ★

Texas A&M AgriLife announces

New World Screwworm Fact Sheet

Experts from Texas A&M AgriLife provide education, and answers about invasive insect

by Kay Ledbetter, Texas AgriLife Today

The New World screwworm has been making headlines lately and in Texas, it's top of mind for many. In May, the U.S. Department of Agriculture suspended importations of cattle, horses and bison from Mexico into the U.S. to prevent New World screwworm movement north following detection in Veracruz, Mexico.

Texas A&M AgriLife Research and Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service experts have released an updated fact sheet publication (<https://agriliifeextension.tamu.edu/new-world-screwworm/>) about the New World screwworm to provide Texans with key information.

Texas is no stranger to the New World screwworm, but it's been about 50 years since the fly wreaked havoc in the Lone Star state. The fly is most notorious for laying eggs in open wounds of living, warm-blooded animals. Then, once hatched, the larvae feed on the living tissue of the host.

Although the closest detection is still 700 miles away, the New World screwworm is of increasing concern across the southern U.S., as it can potentially cause losses in the livestock and wildlife-related industries if it moves across the Mexican border and reestablishes.

The USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service is working with Mexican officials to train personnel and expand surveillance and eradication efforts in Mexico to better address the movement of the fly northward.

Should the New World screwworm enter the U.S., this fly is estimated to cause losses, conservatively, of $2.1 billion to cattle and $9 billion to the hunting/wildlife industry in Texas.

Phillip Kaufman, Ph.D., professor and head, and Sonja Swiger, AgriLife Extension entomologist and professor, both in the Texas A&M College of Agriculture and Life Sciences Department of Entomology, Bryan-College Station, provided answers to some common questions about the New World screwworm.

What is the New World screwworm?

The New World Screwworm, Cochliomyia hominivorax, also known as the primary screwworm, is a tropical fly capable of surviving in the southern U.S. The New World screwworm is incapable of overwintering in regions that experience low temperatures or extended dry periods — they don't do well below 45 degrees and certainly die if frozen, however, the larvae can burrow about 6 inches into the soil, changing the temperatures that they experience.

This fly poses a serious threat to livestock and wildlife because it deposits eggs into the wounds of living animals, thereby leading to larval infestations. Because they can host on any living mammal, they can also affect pets and humans.

This metallic green-blue fly with large orange eyes is about twice the size of a common house fly. New World screwworms do not bite animals; their damage comes from laying eggs in the open wounds of living, warm-blooded animals — though rarely birds. The immature fly larvae, or maggots, feed on the living tissues of hosts, burrowing into the animal's tissue, causing tremendous damage and often resulting in the host's death.

Why is it called a screwworm?

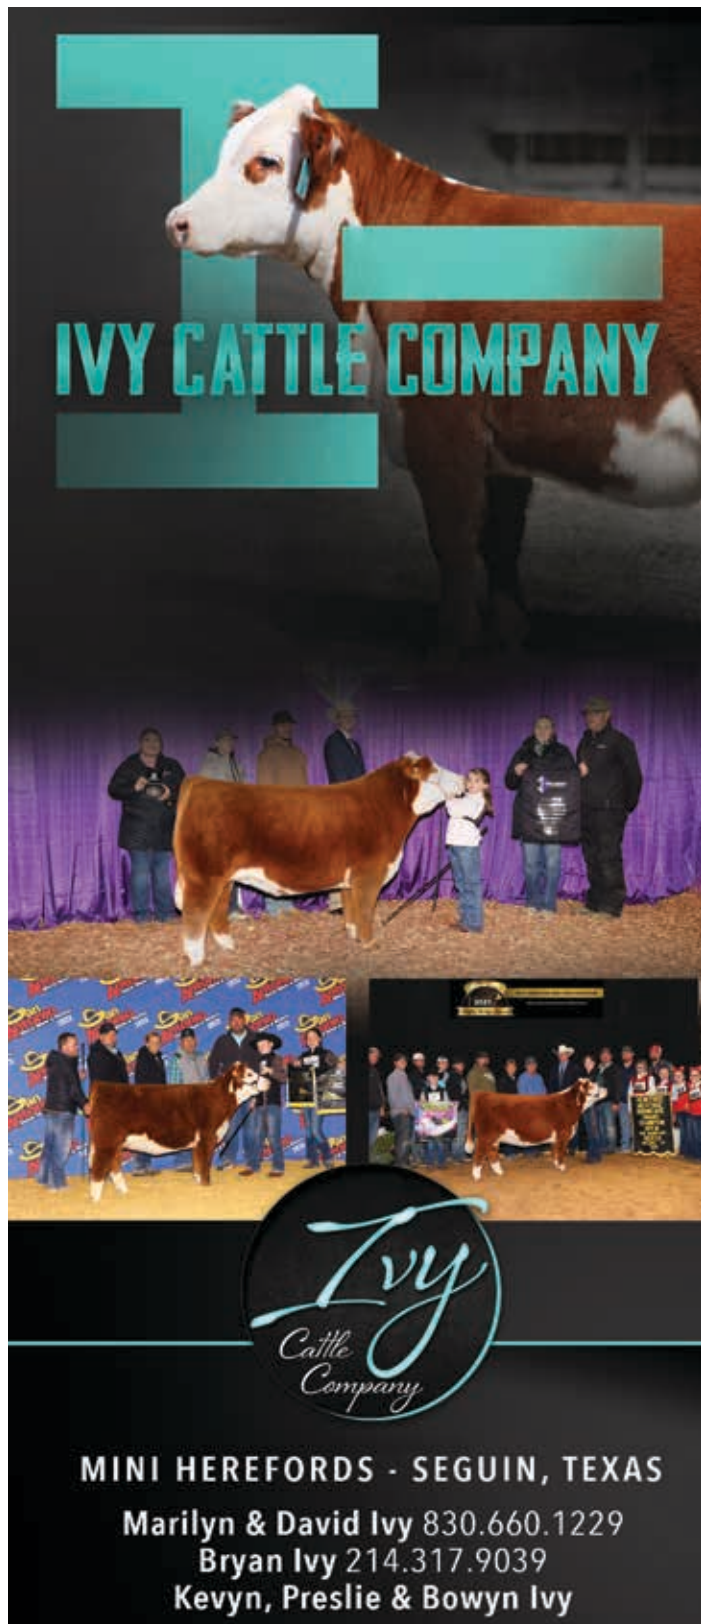

Screwworms get their name from how they feed — they burrow or “screw” into wounds. This can cause quite a bit of damage as they tear at the tissue with their sharp mouth hooks. The wound gets bigger and deeper as more eggs hatch and larvae feed. If wounds go untreated, infestations can lead to serious harm or be fatal.

Why haven't I heard of the screwworm before?

Many people haven't. But many Texas ranchers remember it, or stories of it, well. Historically, the screw-worm was a big problem in several areas of the southern U.S. prior to its eradication in the 1960s. Effective eradication in the U.S. was accomplished in 1966, and in 1967, U.S. cases fell to less than 1,000, a 99% reduction. Incursions by the pest continued for several years, prompting a multinational coordinated eradication effort in the late 1960s to eradicate the fly to southern Mexico and later to the Darién Gap in Panama.

North America has been considered screwworm-free since eradication, but active infestations occur in Jamaica, Cuba and across South America. In 2016, an outbreak was reported on Big Pine Key in southern Florida. It caused significant mortality to male Key deer, an endangered species.

The screwworm larvae, or maggots, feed off the living tissue of mammals. (Heather Walden/University of Florida)

Eradication was achieved the following year, but not until substantial loss was suffered in the native deer population and at great financial cost.

Until 2023, the Darién Gap quarantine line held with occasional incursions into areas west of the Panama Canal, about 25 occurrences per year. Since 2023, the New World screwworm has continued on page 40 been reestablished north of the Panama Canal. There have been 6,500-plus cases in 2024, and it has moved as far north as Veracruz, Mexico, as of May, but not into the U.S.

How was it eradicated?

Eradication is accomplished through surveillance, host treatment and quarantine, but the core to the successful eradication is using the sterile insect technique. The fly is produced in massive numbers, and during the pupal stage, the flies are subjected to a specific irradiation exposure, damaging their chromosomes and making them sterile.

This technique relies on sterilizing the flies without damaging their ability to fly, finding a nonsterile wild female and being accepted for mating. Female flies mate only once in their lifespan.

The sterilized males are released either through targeted ground operations or widespread aerial dispersal in massive numbers at regular intervals to overwhelm the wild female population with sterile males and suppress matings with wild males.

Initial eradication efforts in the southwest in the 1960s began with a 50-mile barrier zone at the Mexican border by releasing 200 sterile males per square mile per week. Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service has released an updated fact sheet about the New World screwworm.

How do you control screwworms?

Typical insecticide use on the New World screwworm is not as effective as with other insect pests due to its wide host range and occurrence on wildlife. Eradication is the best way to control screwworms. However, control/removal of the fly when found on hosts is critical to reducing the local population so that the sterile fly program succeeds more quickly and reduces animal suffering.

How do you prevent screwworms?

Historically, ranchers have altered breeding dates to avoid birthing during the fly season. Common livestock management practices and events, such as castration, dehorning, branding and birthing in all animals and antler velvet shedding in deer, often resulted in infestations. Infestations can occur at the site of any recent wound, like a scrape, lesion or even a tick-feeding site.

Other wounds of common infestation include those from ear tagging or shearing, as well as mucous membranes and antler shedding in deer. New-born mammals are prone to infestations at the healing umbilical cord site.

What does a screwworm infestation look like?

Early stages of infestation can be difficult to detect. Key signs of screwworm infestations can include wounds that appear not to be healing or have excessive drainage or odor. Animals may exhibit irritated behavior such as head shaking, the smell of decaying flesh and maggots in the wound of a living animal.

What to do if you think an animal might be infested

If a wound on a living animal is found to have larvae in it, a veterinarian must be contacted. Find an accredited veterinarian or Texas Animal Health Commission, TAHC, region office. The veterinarian is mandated by law to collect and submit the larvae for identification to the USDA's National Veterinary Services Laboratory.

Also, the animal should be immediately confined for wound care, and all larvae should be removed and placed into alcohol. After removing the larvae, treat the infestation with topical pesticides labeled for use on the animal to kill any larvae that may not have been removed and reduce the likelihood of re-infestation. The wound should be monitored until it fully heals. When dealing with livestock, all other animals in the herd should be checked for wounds and larvae.

Anyone who finds fly larvae infesting a living animal, called myiasis, must report this to a state veterinarian. The protocol for reporting can be found on the Texas Animal Health Commission website or at the USDA-APHIS website.

Missy Coffelt Advertising Sales/Field Representative

Over the past year with the Texas Hereford Association, I've had the privilege of traveling from the Panhandle to South Texas, meeting breeders, ranchers, and families who are the backbone of our industry. What a great time it has been to work with THA—during a season when the cattle market is on the rise, input costs are trending down, and optimism is returning to pastures across the state. This unique alignment of market conditions and lower operating expenses has created a rare and valuable opportunity for producers—not just to profit, but to build. With calf prices strong, fuel and fertilizer prices easing compared to last year, and widespread rainfall bringing pastures back to life, we're seeing a moment where strategic investment can pay off in big ways. And in this moment, two investments stand out above the rest: genetics and nutrition.

When margins improve, the smart move isn't to stand still—it's to move forward. One of the most impactful ways to do that is by upgrading your herd's genetics. Better genetics lead to better performance: stronger maternal traits, improved feed efficiency, and calves that meet today's high market demands. Hereford cattle offer exactly what today's buyers are looking for—docility, adaptability, longevity, and the kind of hybrid vigor that adds value in commercial crossbreeding programs. Whether you're producing seedstock or commercial calves, the right bull or female can move your operation forward for years to come.

That's why the Texas Hereford Association invites you to the 2025 Fall Classic Sale, happening October 29 in Buffalo, Texas. This event brings together high-quality registered Hereford bulls and females, along with Hereford-influenced F1 females that have proven value in herds across the state. Even more, THA members have the opportunity to nominate cattle for this sale—a great platform to showcase your program and connect with producers who are serious about quality genetics.

Of course, good genetics are only as effective as the nutrition that supports them. Fortunately, this year has also brought improvements in forage conditions across much of Texas, now is the time to be intentional about nutrition—not just in quantity, but in quality.

As my first year with the Texas Hereford Association comes to a close, I can't emphasize enough the quality of the people and the cattle I've had the privilege to encounter. From high-performance herds to salt-of-the-earth ranching families, I've seen firsthand the dedication, grit, and pride that define this breed and this industry. There's no doubt—Hereford genetics are gaining momentum and proving their value in all segments of the beef industry. Whether you're a commercial cattleman looking for efficiency and consistency, or a seedstock producer striving for excellence, good Herefords offer the versatility and value to elevate your program. ★

Team Texas Senior Division Certified Hereford Beef® Grill-off Grand Champions! (l-r) Randy Williams, Madeline Braman, Mason Allan, Audrey Nolan and Gracie Oates (2018 NJHE)

School is out, and so many juniors in our Texas Jr. Hereford Association turn to getting ready for Junior National Hereford Expo held each summer. Hours are spent washing and blowing hair on their Herefords, working on their showmanship skills, and readying themselves for the various contests that each show puts on. Competition is fun and can be fierce, so it's all the more important to put practice into those speeches and other competitive events, as well as just being involved in them.

We can remember well our first Hereford State Show in Hearne, Texas, and especially as I was six months pregnant with our youngest daughter Audrey. Newbies to the Hereford breed and show, we immersed our daughters, Ilissa, Bethany, and Audrey, in almost everything they had to offer. That year, we got pretty good at second-to-last place with our heifer, but with hard work, Ilissa ended up with a reserve junior showmanship behind a young man and family who would become dear friends, Will Echols. As a family we were hooked and spent our summers and vacations like many of you do on the show road, three Texas Hereford Queen's later, a National Hereford Queen for our Bethany, and several Junior National Hereford competitions as champion with their teams, our girls learned so much more than we ever dreamed of.

For this issue, I thought it would be fun to include a recipe from our Team Texas Certified Beef® Cookoff just a few years ago. Parents helped develop the script, the recipe, and the coordinated outfits our juniors would wear. With Hereford beef donated by the association, the competiitors cooked their main dish on their own and then presented it in a skit format that included beef facts and how to make the recipe in a fun and informative way. I think my favorite memory from that first contest and picture below was when little Mason Allan did not use the tongs provided, but picked up the meat for the judge with his finger and placed it on their plate. I can see each of their sweet faces to this day and remember fondly the practices in preparation for the contest. Truly, the best memories among so many of raising our daughters in our Hereford breed. ★

We love having our National Hereford Queen be a part of our luncheon and shows each year during the Hereford weekend. Shown are Nataleigh Belcher, Twin City, Georgia; her mother Brandi Mills; Edy Brainard representing the Queen program, Abbey Wohleb, Texas Hereford Queen, and Macy Terrell, TJHA Sweetheart.

The third annual Gathering for the National Hereford Women will be another highlight for the Texas Hereford Auxiliary as they assist in hosting this event at Hi Point, Desdemona, Texas.

Application for Membership in the Texas Hereford Association

Benefits of a THA Membership

The Texas Hereford Association (THA) was organized in 1899 in Fort Worth, Texas. Its membership has included the elite of the Texas Hereford industry since its inception and continues to have elite loyal members and supporters.

As an association one of its goals is the promotion of Hereford genetics in Texas and connect buyers and sellers. The THA sponsors the Powerhouse Commercial Heifer Show and Sale in January during the Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo (FWSSR), along with the Fall Classic Bull & Female Sale in Buffalo, Texas, in October. Both sales are ways that members can market their cattle and promote their operations.

The THA is also represented at many industry events including the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Convention and Texas A&M Beef Cattle Short Course, along with other state-wide seminars and events. The annual meeting of the THA is held during the Hereford weekend at the FWSSR in January.

The Texas Hereford Association Foundation is a 501(c)3 portion of the THA. Its purpose is to support educational programs and youth through scholarships and internships.

The Texas Junior Hereford Association is for our young future Hereford breeders. The members' membership extends through their 22nd birthday with the opportunity to participate in junior activities at age 7 by January of the current year. The largest state cattle breed show in the country is hosted by the TJHA in late May/early June each summer and draws more than 500 head and more than 240 participants. Many contests outside of the show ring are held during this event including public speaking, quiz bowl and poster contests. Many scholarships are also presented during this show.

The Texas Hereford Auxiliary is an affiliated association that includes women who are proud to support the Hereford breed. Their annual meeting is held during the activities in Fort Worth in January. They offer scholarships as well and help to promote the Certified Hereford Beef® program.

The official magazine of the THA is the Texas Hereford. It is published 11 times each year with the June/July combined to serve as a valuable directory of members of the association, junior association and Auxiliary. It is a resource used by thousands in the cattle industry. All THA members receive a free listing with information pertaining to your herd such as herd sires, bloodlines, location of farm or ranch, telephone numbers, etc. This herd listing alone is worth the price of membership.

As the only publication in Texas devoted solely to Herefords it includes news about the association, calendar of events, news from the American Hereford Association and timely editorial features. You are encouraged to advertise and take advantage of having your name available for others to find you. Low rates make it a wise choice your marketing program.

The THA continues to be a proud leader in the livestock industry promoting ownership of quality Hereford cattle.

The Sires of Distinction program — established in 2007 — recognizes superior Hereford bulls that sire efficient, fertile and productive females. To be honored as a Sire of Distinction, a bull's daughters must have received at least seven Dams of Distinction awards.

Bulls attaining the Sire of Distinction status are noted with "SOD" after their names when doing an animal or expected progeny difference (EPD) inquiry on Hereford.org.

The 120 sires listed here were recognized as Sires of Distinction for the first time in 2024.

This list from the American Hereford Association and published in April 2025 Hereford World.

★★★ Quite possible the most flawless son of the immortal DESERT PRIME who has produced over 200 other sons working in top operations all over the country.

★★★ Weighing over 1800 lbs. and not yet 2 years old, he ranks ABOVE breed average in an incredible 16 traits (including ALL the carcass categories and ALL the profit indexes).

★★★ His mother is one of the easiest keeping cows on the ranch with abundant pigment and outstanding udder!

★★★ Predictability deluxe as he traces 11 times to KING TEN and is double-bred to the iconic 18-year-old Christi cow!

He is exciting!
